

Metcom is hiring!

Metcom is a print and promo distributor servicing corporate clients in key industry segments.

We have an excellent opportunity for a Promotional Product expert to serve our client base.

The position requires the ability to develop relationships with customers and suppliers, provide ideas for promotions, prepare proposals, secure the order, prepare purchase orders, and handle all order follow up for timely delivery of goods. Although not a typical sales position the ability to engage with customers is critical as well as being creative and detail minded.

Competitive pay, PTO and Health Care Benefits for full-time work.

The position may also be part-time.

The work is onsite in our St. Clair Shores, Michigan office but for the right person remote work will be considered.
